The City of Anchorage (population 261,446) is the largest city in Alaska with 42% of the state's population. It sits at the base of the Chugach Mountains along the Coast of Cook Inlet in Southcentral AK. Approximately 3,432 Koreans live in the Anchorage area. This is 1.32 % of the total population. Koreans are the second largest ethnic group in Anchorage, behind Filipinos, but Koreans own more business firms than any ethnic group in the state, according to the U.S. Census. Korean Hope Covenant was founded in 1984.
